Welcome

Welcome to Horsford Primary School. This prospectus has been put together by the children, staff, governors and parents of the school. We hope it gives you a picture of how our school runs and to appreciate the exciting opportunities on offer to children in our care. Horsford Primary School is a new school that opened in September 2015. It has two sites, Holt Road and Mill Lane, which are approximately a ten minute walk from each other. Holt Road cares for our younger children working in Reception (EYFS), Year One and Year Two (Key Stage One) and Mill Lane continues the children's learning journey in Years Three, Four, Five and Six (Key Stage Two).

The school welcomes up to 60 children into Reception each year and the children are either taught in single aged or mixed aged classes. Class sizes are no more than 30 and are taught by our team of qualified teachers. Learning Support Advisors also support the children in class. At lunchtime the children are under the care of our trained Midday Supervisor Assistants. If you would like further information about our admissions process, please find the admissions policy on our website.

We provide opportunities for children to visit and work together across the both sites and enjoy the use of facilities that both sites have to offer.

The best way to find out about our school is to come and visit, to see us in action and meet staff and children, just call either site to arrange a welcoming visit to our school.

Nebula

Horsford Primary School is part of the Nebula Partnership of six schools. The core purpose of the partnership is to develop the very best, self-improving organisations to ensure that your children do exceptionally well and are prepared for the future. We are committed to provide each and every child with a holistic education that enables them to be successful and prepares them for the future. We are extremely proud to be part of this partnership but each school within the partnership are also equally passionate about wanting to respect and maintain the individuality of each school.

The partnership gives all six schools strong leadership, extra sustainability, financial stability, flexibility and the capacity to support school improvement. We can build on the strong federations that already exist to raise standards as all six schools are able to share resources, work much more closely together, collaborate, share their strengths and ensure that collectively they are providing the very best education for the children and overcome some of the challenges that schools can face.

Our Classrooms

Our Holt Road site is responsible for the four to seven year olds and each class have their own special classroom where the work and display their learning proudly. The children can also spend time in other areas of the school, such as the library, hall or outdoors.

The Hall

When children move into Year Three, they transfer to our Mill Lane site. They remain here until the end of Year Six. There are various specialist teaching areas, including a food technology room and music room.

During lunchtime, children have the opportunity to use a wide range of equipment on our field and to access the Haven craft/games club.

Our School Grounds

"I like lunch, because they do really nice dinners and you get to spend time with your friends."

"There are loads of things about school that I like, if it wasn't for school I wouldn't have met all my friends."

English lessons are built around units of work that focus on the key fiction and non fiction genres as outlined in the National Curriculum. Each unit provides the opportunity for children to become immersed in the specific genre through shared, guided and individual reading and writing experiences.

English

Maths

"I like maths, because you get to learn how to do tricky number sentences."

Children are encouraged to investigate mathematically, using what they know to enable them to work out what they don't. Discussions of how answers are arrived at are extremely important too, as children who are able to explain how they have answered a question will understand better. As well as discrete maths sessions, we are working as a school on giving the children opportunities to use their maths skills more and more in other subjects. Children's level of understanding is assessed throughout the year and as a result of these ongoing assessments, lessons are planned with the children's needs in mind.

Our School Curriculum

We provide a stimulating learning environment that responds to each child's needs and one that enables them to fulfil their potential. We offer a unique curriculum that is designed to address their spiritual, moral, cultural and social development as well as the academic. We value our learning to learn culture where we place an emphasis on involving children in their learning journey. The children will be offered many opportunities to work from first hand experience. We have designed a broad, balanced curriculum, which covers all areas of experience and one that develops concepts, skills, attitudes and knowledge. We want to develop the whole child and through this we expect our children, parents and carers to have high expectations to enable us to do this. We expect to work in partnership with the home.

As well as a range of skills taught in lessons, there are plenty of sports clubs that run throughout the year, and teams that compete in a variety of events. We organise for highly qualified visitors from various institutions to come into school to share their skills and knowledge with the children.

Promoting Alternative Thinking Strategies underpins our curriculum both in and out of discrete lessons. Children are randomly chosen to be pupil of the day, and receive compliments from staff and peers, as well as other special treats and responsibilities.

At Horsford, children are encouraged to ask HOW and WHY questions because we value curiosity: it furthers understanding of how the world works. There are plenty of hands-on, practical activities and the children take an increasingly active role in the planning and carrying out of this work. ICT is used in lessons where possible.

In a rapidly changing world, children's ability to use computers in a range of situations is vital. The school has a range of computing equipment which enables the children to access the curriculum.

Our School Curriculum

As a church school, RE is central to the ethos of Horsford Primary. We learn about a variety of religions through key questions and the children participate in daily worship. We also have visitors from the local church and community, who perform a range of religious stories called 'Open the Book'.

RE

As the children progress through the school they will experience a range of musical instruments and genres. They can then develop these further in lunchtime and after school clubs. Lessons are also provided, for smaller groups of children, for specialist music teachers if they wish at an additional cost.

Music

Geography and History

Throughout the year our theme based curriculum is enhanced with educational visits to allow children to have first hand experience of geography and history so that they make links to the wider world.

Art and Design Technology

Children learn French, German or Spanish throughout their time at Horsford Primary School. We aim to do this in a fun, engaging way to help the children secure their learning.

MFL

From topics, pupils will explore their creativity by experimenting and developing their control with different materials and techniques including sculpture. Pupils will also look at inspirational artists and designers in history and create their own personal sketchbooks recording observations and ideas. Through a variety of creative and practical activities pupils design and make using skills, select a range of tools and equipment for their product. Materials include construction materials, mechanical systems, textiles and cooking and nutrition. Pupils evaluate their work and consider the views of others to improve their work.

Our School Curriculum

What our Year 6 children think...

"Horsford Primary School is an amazing school where the teachers are kind and helpful. Because of this, the students are learning in a brilliant and cheerful atmosphere for learners. Horsford's teachers are creative and fun; always coming up with creative ways to jazz up boring lessons. Our teachers also help those who are struggling and nobody ever gets left out. However, they do have high expectations and want you to achieve all that you can and have a mature, cooperative attitude towards learning. Without our teachers, many of us wouldn't get the great education we have had and are having. In short, Horsford Primary is a great place to learn for all children."

What Makes Our School Special

"I like Forest Schools, because it is fun and you get to learn about mini-beasts and habitats. You also get to have campfires."

Need to Know Information

Safeguarding

Horsford CE VA Primary School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of its pupils and encourages an open and supportive culture. We all have a duty to protect children and young people from harm. Adults working in a school are often the first to realise that the behaviour of someone is causing, or is likely to cause, harm to a child or young person. Each individual has a responsibility for raising concerns about unacceptable practice or behaviour in order to protect or reduce the risks to others, to prevent the problem worsening and to protect other staff and the school.

Behaviour

We believe that to treat children positively, by praising them and offering encouragement for the things they do well, is the most successful approach to behaviour management. This does not mean that inappropriate behaviour is ignored, simply that the positive aspects of children's behaviour should be highlighted whenever possible. Praise and encouragement is vitally important in developing children's self-esteem and should be meaningful and regular. This might mean being praised for working hard, being polite or showing consideration towards others. Unacceptable behaviour is recognised when children's rights to be safe and learn are not being respected and the school rules are not being followed. This varies from low level, disruptive behaviour to physical behaviour that may affect the safety, wellbeing or learning of other people at school.

Any incidences of behaviour are shared with parents, either by telephone call or at the end of the school day. If you have any concerns about your child being involved in inappropriate behaviour, please do not hesitate

SATs

Do you have a child in primary school in Year 2 or Year 6? If so, they will be taking the national curriculum tests (SATs) in May of that year. The tests will provide information about how your child is progressing, compared to children the same age nationally. They are not qualifications and do not affect your child's future options in school. The results are used to ensure that schools are teaching their pupils the essential knowledge and skills in the subjects that are the early building blocks. This is to ensure every child reaches their full potential.

Ofsted

Every school is monitored by Ofsted who inspect different areas of the school, including leadership; the quality of teaching, learning and assessment; personal development, behaviour and welfare; outcomes for pupils and the effectiveness of the early years provision. There is no current Ofsted report for Horsford Primary School as it only opened in September 2015. Ofsted also has a Parent View section to welcome any complements or concerns about our school. Parent View gives you the chance to tell Ofsted what you think about your child's school, from the quality of teaching, to dealing with bullying and poor behaviour. The survey can be completed at any time; you don't have to wait until the school is being inspected.

Want to know more?

School offers Assertive Mentoring meetings with parents four times a year to discuss your child's progress. If you would like to speak to your child's teacher outside of these times, please make an appointment through the school office. If you require further information, our school website is regularly updated and provides links to our curriculum, policies and procedures in school.
